The following download instructions are for the current version of ACR 11.0.31. The earlier version has been deleted.. 1) The new Firefox is not using the local disk. When opening a file on the local disk of an older Firefox, Firefox will now use the current process's filesystem to access files available on the network. This is important to ensure files open by Firefox are safe from malicious programs; for example malicious programs could use system files in the local disk to run code that would destroy critical components of Firefox. However, this can cause errors related to the device..
